The Message Of The Wheat Pool

Farmers Who Signed Contracts,
Cannot, And Will Not Break Faith
With Pool.

Alberta Wheat Pool directors have announced that all members be required to live up to their contracts, and deliver their wheat to the Pool. Although the contract has been proven legally airtight, it is not upon that, the Pool rests its case, but upon the solemnity of the contract between member and member, and the loyalty and determination of the far-seeing wheat growers who are the members.

Rumors have circulated that members will seek to evade their contract this fall, but there is no actual evidence that the loyalty of the mass of members has been impaired to any extent. Nothing is gained by turning back, and it is generally realized that the strengthening and developing of the Pool movement will best serve the agricultural industry.

The price of wheat, now, is below the cost of production, and the initial payment is admittedly low, but the stability of the Pool would be endangered if a higher initial payment was given. The ultimate welfare must not be endangered.

On Tuesday evening, twenty-five members of the Fidelity Chapter, Three Hills, visited the local Chapter of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Ott, of Stettler, Past Matron, and Mrs. Tucker, of the Edith Cavell Chapter, Calgary, were also prominent visitors. After the meeting, a banquet was given in the Oddfellows Hall, and speeches were forthcoming, both from visitors and local members. Miss M. Saugstad, with songs, and Mrs. Bolton, in violin solos, contributed to the evening's enjoyment. During the evening, a gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ahlgrim, who were married recently.

Obituary.

It is with sincere regret that we report the death of Wilfred Arthur, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Sinclair.

The young boy, who was six years and ten months old, was suddenly taken ill with acute appendicitis, on Tuesday evening, and passed away at the Didsbury Hospital on Thursday.

The funeral service was held in the Knox United Church on Saturday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of townspeople. The boys and girls of his class at school, also attended in a representative body.

The casket was banked with many beautiful wreaths and flowers, from relatives and friends of the family.

We join with the community in offering our deepest sympathy to the bereaved parents and family.

The passing of another old-time resident is recorded with the death of Mrs. S. J. West.

Saloma Jane West was born on May 8th, 1855 in St. Mary's, Ontario, and departed this life at her home at Didsbury, Alberta, on September 8th, 1930. In 1870, the deceased was united in marriage to Ambrose West, and of this union, were born three sons and one daughter. Her husband, one daughter, and two sons pre-deceased her, and the remaining son now lives in Pensacola, Florida.

Mrs. West came to Didsbury with her family in 1901, and homesteaded in the Rugby district, where she lived for several years, moving into town about twenty years ago. She was of a kindly disposition, and gained a large number of friends by her kind and neighborly deeds. Her many friends will regret her passing.

The funeral service will be held to-day (Thursday) at 2-30 p.m., in the M.B.C. Church.

Activity In Building, West Of Town

Mr. H. O. Tonjum, of the North End Lumber Yard, reports that considerable building is being done, west of town.

Mr. Allen Vipond is building a new bungalow on his farm, 14 miles west; Mr. E. Klinck has just had completed, a one-storey-and-a-half cottage, fully modern, and stucco-finished; Mr. W. J. Morton is building a substantial addition to his house; Mr. W. F. Brown is building an up-to-date bungalow, and Messrs. E. Berscht and W. A. Hayes are also building residences.

The United Church of Canada has pledged itself to the best interests of the nation, and every local church should rejoice in having a definite part to play in this modern Church Unity.

The services in the Evangelical Church for the next few Sundays, will be of unusual interest. The month of September is being observed as "Rally Month," and during this time, the different departmental organizations will have charge of the services each Sunday. Next Sunday will be recognized as Women's Sunday. The Ladies' Aid will conduct the morning service, and the Women's Missionary will take charge of the evening service. The following Sunday will be recognized as Men's Sunday, and the services will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Sunday School Class, with the assistance of a male quintette from Calgary. The Salvation Army Band is also coming from Calgary to assist in one of the Sunday evening services.

WEDDINGS

ROBSON—FISHER

A very pretty wedding took place in St. Barnabas' Church at 11-30 a.m., last Wednesday, when Emily Constance, second daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Bayard Fisher, became the bride of Mr. Robert Leslie Robson, accountant in the Royal Bank at Didsbury, Alberta. Rev. Canon Western officiated.

The bride entered the church, which was beautifully decorated by her friends, with chrysanthemums, carnations, ferns, palms and garden flowers, on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Bridal Chorus, played by Mrs. C. H. Niles. She wore powder blue georgette, with a matching lace coat, her hat being of felt, with French applique, while completing the charming ensemble was a marcasite necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendants were her sister, Miss Lenore Fisher, as bridesmaid, and little Helen Church, as flower girl.

The groom was supported by Mr. Clinton Reiber, of Didsbury, and the gentlemen acting as ushers were Messrs. J. S. Card and Harold McBain.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. A. Church, where Mrs. Fisher received with the bride and groom. The rooms were decorated with ferns and garden flowers. In the dining-room, in the centre of the table, was the wedding-cake, topped with a vase of roses, and attractively displayed with tulle and pink tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robson left on the noon train, for a two-weeks honeymoon in Calgary and Banff, before returning to Didsbury.

—Medicine Hat News.

About fifty Oddfellows and Rebekahs went to Calgary on Tuesday evening, as guests of the Sandstone City Lodge. Special work was put on by the lodge, and degrees conferred on three Didsbury members. After the meeting, Rebekahs and Oddfellows joined in a social gathering.

Another outbreak of dog-poisoning occurred on Tuesday, when several dogs were found to have been poisoned. This has been happening intermittently for some months, and dog-owners are up in arms and declare they will leave no stone unturned to bring the culprit to his desserts.

The Russian Menace

Soviet Russia presents a menace to Great Britain, Canada, the United States, in fact, to all countries which depend for their prosperity upon a world export trade. The Russian menace of today is not one of impending war fought by armies and navies, rifles, cannon, tanks, bombs and aircraft, but of a great economic struggle for world trade, and of the countries most likely to be seriously affected by such a struggle the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the United States come first.

Prior to the Great War it was frequently contended that wars between nations were brought about by armament manufacturers and captains of industry seeking territory within which they might enjoy more or less exclusive rights of trading. The Great War itself, was, in the final analysis, caused by Germany's ambition to secure larger world markets and a greater colonial empire. The German navy was created for the express purpose of challenging the British navy with this very object in view. Germany failed, but in the Great War the old Russia of the Czars disappeared, and in its place there has arisen the Soviet Republics dominated by the communist workers.

The Soviet leaders are absolutely ruthless in their methods, inspired by the ideals of fanatics, and spurred on by a belief that their ideas of government are the only right ones leading to freedom of the masses as opposed to all other forms of government which they hold are under the control of the hated capitalist classes. To the Soviet leaders all methods are right and fair if they will serve to accomplish their purpose. Hence the nature of the economic struggle now confronting the world.

Having seized the property of all the landed and capitalist classes of Russia, having declared it a crime for any person in Russia to hold views contrary to those of the Soviet authorities, and having imposed ultra-communist ideas upon the whole of Russia, the Soviet leaders are now utilizing and working these seized, or stolen, properties with what is to all intents and purposes convict labor. And if there is any shortage of such labor, thousands more are made readily available by trumped-up charges of treason or disobedience to the Soviet, and without trial are thrown into forced labor camps.

Coal, pulpwood, agricultural products, notably wheat, produced under such conditions at a cost against which the producers of no other country can successfully compete, are now beginning to be thrown into the markets of the world. Some tens of thousands of tons of Russian coal have been shipped into Canada; scores of shiploads of Russian pulpwood are being sent to the United States to enter into competition with Canadian pulpwood, pulp and paper; Russian wheat is going to England where it displaces hard Canadian wheat as it is largely of the same hard variety.

And this is only the beginning. The Russian Soviet Government has expended hundreds of millions of dollars within the last few years in the purchase of the most up-to-date agricultural machinery. It has granted concessions to Henry Ford to establish a great plant for the manufacture of tractors in that country; it has engaged the services of the most noted railway and agricultural experts to direct operations in Russia; it has sent commissions of its own experts to foreign lands, and more particularly to Canada and the United States, to study methods of transportation and marketing—all with a view to making an aggressive bid for the trade of the world, and based on methods and costs of production with which other countries with their greater liberty of the individual and higher standards of living cannot begin to compete.

Such, in brief outline, is the serious nature of the menace to Canadian and United States business in the Russian situation. United States labor and United States industrialists are strongly battling the unfair Russian competition. Canada must do likewise, for while a country may be willing to face the competition of other countries, both at home and abroad, upon equal terms, no country can compete with conditions such as those now prevailing in Russia and survive. It is apparent that Russia, having failed in its political attempts to sovietize the world, has now embarked upon an economic conquest.

Under these circumstances, the approaching Imperial Economic Conference, in London, England, is fraught with greater importance than any previous Empire Conference. Hon. C. A. Dunning announced that his budget was an indication of the spirit in which the King Government intended to approach that Conference, but the King Government has been defeated, the responsibility now rests with Premier Bennett, in collaboration with Premier Ramsay MacDonald, and the other Dominion Premiers, to work out an economic policy for the Empire which will enable all its component parts to successfully resist the Russian menace, and at the same time develop intra-Empire trade to its fullest possible extent. Every Canadian will wish Mr. Bennett well in his important task.

Deceiving the Customer

These Berry Boxes Were Worse Than the Standard False Bottoms

In the "museum" of the Dominion Fruit Branch, at Ottawa, is a curio of unusual interest. It is a full tray of twelve blueberry boxes, each box of which is nearly half-filled with blocks of board, bits of field trash and old wood. It was picked up by the inspection service through the complaint of a purchaser on a large Eastern market. To the customer to whom these boxes were sold it was a case of "caveat emptor" with a vengeance.

These pills make rich, red blood which brings new strength and energy to weak, despondent sufferers. Live Stock Sales

New System Of Reporting Sales and Prices Has Been Adopted

A new system of reporting live stock sales and prices has been put into effect in the Stock Yard and Market Reporting Services of the Dominion Live Stock Branch. The purpose of the new system is to afford a more adequate indication of sales and prices in relation to beef cattle coming on the market. The principal change brings to the top of the list the section of beef cattle in greatest demand, providing a clear indication of the volume and price range of the popular light cattle, and providing the producer with a more adequate indication of grade and price than was possible under the old system.

A Challenge To Canada To Put British Empire In Forefront Of Airship Transportation

A challenge to Canada to take the next step in putting the British Empire in the forefront of airship transportation through the inauguration of a trans-Atlantic service between Great Britain and Canada before the service between Germany and the United States, being planned by Dr. Hugo Eckener, gets under way, was voiced recently by Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the dirigible R-100. Sir Dennistoun spoke before the Canadian Club, of Ottawa.

The sponsor of the first Great Britain-to-Canada airship flight asked for the formation of a committee of prominent Canadian business men to investigate the situation and decide whether the Canadian Government and business interests were prepared to back a trans-Atlantic airship service. With the views of such a committee before him, he would be able to lay a concrete proposition before the British Government on his return to London, England.

He was prepared, he said, to undertake at once the construction of an airship with a cruising speed of 85 miles per hour, carrying fuel for a 6,000-mile flight together with 100 passengers and 10 tons of mail. With a fleet of such vessels a regular service between Canada and Great Britain could be maintained, taking 2½ days for the westward crossing and two days for the eastward. He named $1,000 as the initial passenger fare, but predicted a gradual reduction until it would compare favorably with steamship fares.

It was time to take a bold forward step, Sir Dennistoun asserted. If the British Empire was to be knit together culturally, economically and politically, a rapid means of communication had to be provided. A service to Canada offered better immediate prospects of success than the proposed eastward service to India and Australia.

Before the proposal could be put in effect, he said, there were financial and political handicaps to be overcome. Referring to the presence of Mr. Bennett and Mr. King, he said with the co-operation of both parties the political difficulties would disappear. On the political side, he mentioned the necessity of long-term mail contracts and building loans at reasonable interest rates. On the financial side, all that was required was money, and if the business men of Canada got behind the scheme there would be no difficulty. There were no technical difficulties.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, designer of the Graf Zeppelin, Sir Dennistoun said, was organizing a German-American company to operate a service between Germany and the United States. If Canada would co-operate the Canadian service would be in operation before the German.

"We could promise regularity of service by establishing an emergency base some hundreds of miles south of Montreal," said Sir Dennistoun. "Would it not be a great thing for Canada, if, during the winter months, mails and passengers could leave Toronto or Montreal and arrive in London, England, in 48 hours? Now that the R-100 has flown to Canada, you can see it for yourselves. The commercial interests of Canada and the Canadian government have some solid basis on which to form their judgment."

Frozen-egg plants in Shanghai, China, are operating at capacity.

"I could have had a fine job; £25 a month with a fortnight's holiday with pay."

"And what came of it?"

"Nothing. I wanted the holidays before beginning."—Pages Gales, Yverdon.

New Regulations Are To Apply At Royal Winter Fair.

An important forward step to promote the commercial production and distribution of registered and certified seeds in Canada has been taken by the Royal Winter Fair, to be held in Toronto, November 19 to 27. A new class has been added to the Royal program for seed growers of wheat, oats and barley, confined to competitors whose growing crops have been inspected in the field under the provision of the Dominion Seeds Act and who have not less than 50 bushels of registered and certified seed grain for sale in a commercial way. The actual exhibit will consist of one-half bushel sample and may be taken from the current crop or that of the previous harvest.

By the new conditions the prize-winning half bushels must come from a 50 bushel bulk of the same quality and must be entered in the unbroken package sealed by an accredited inspector at the time he inspects and seals the bags or other containers of the main commercial crop. Briefly this means it will be possible for farmers to buy seed grains by sample with official assurance that the bulk will equal sample. Prize winning in the past did not give this guarantee, because entrants could hand pick the best half bushel from a large quantity of mixed grain. Over 80 prizes are offered. The spring wheat classes include the Marquis group, Garnet, Reward, Huron and Mindum. Those varieties of winter wheat, oats and barley approved for registration are eligible. Barley may be six-rowed or two-rowed. The 1930 dates for the Royal Winter Fair are November 19 to 27.

How We Spend Our Time

Estimated That a Man Of Seventy Has Spent Two Years Of His Life Shaving Himself

A Frenchman with a liking for curious figures has been counting up the time that a man ordinarily devotes to common occupations of life. He finds that a man of seventy has usually spent about nineteen years working, twenty-three years in bed, nine years amusing himself or being amused, one year in church, and two years shaving himself. This last portion of time he seems to consider as one of the great wastes of life. But, trying to imagine what we would look like if we all had beards, we are not inclined to agree with him. Even if we did all save some time from shaving there isn't any real guarantee that we would put that time to any better uses.—New Outlook.

Canada will watch with a "jealous eye" anything resembling a design on the part of a foreign power to establish itself within the zone lying between her mainland and the North Pole, P. E. Corbett, dean of the law school of McGill University, said before the Institute of politics.

Dean Corbett, who addressed the conference on "Problems of Sovereignty in the Arctic and Antarctic," stated that Canada claims all discovered land lying between her mainland and the North Pole, and will probably assert a claim to any land that may subsequently be discovered there.

"Where occupation is not yet possible the Canadian claim is justified by principles of territorial proximity and possible strategic importance," and possible strategic importance," he said. "These principles have never hardened into rifles of international law, but they have been urged from time to time as moral and political, if not legal, grounds for the appropriation of unattached lands."

"At the present time, the main interest in the Arctic is in its position as the possible future highway of inter-hemisphere air traffic. The shortest way between Great Britain and the western part of Canada is across these northern latitudes, and the same is true for the northwestern United States and northern Europe. Landing and refuelling stations along the route will be a prime necessity and if such stations in our northern hinterlands are to be within control of any one power that control ought to be Canadian."

Dean Corbett stated that the question of internationalizing the polar regions may arise if expected development in aerial navigation takes place, but that the United States has hitherto displayed slight enthusiasm for such a project and without her it would be foolish to think of any such regime in polar regions.

"In the meantime," he said in conclusion, "Canada, which has what may be regarded as a legitimate expectation of graduating within the next half century into the ranks of the first-class powers, will be bound to pay careful attention to developments in the Arctic, watching with a jealous eye anything resembling a design on the part of a foreign power to establish itself within a zone which we regard as belonging by right to us."

Value Of the American Hen

Poultry Industry Supplies About 10 Per Cent. Of the Total Income

The cow, the sow and the hen are greater farm-income producers, according to United States official rating, than wheat, about which we hear so much nowadays. The poultry industry, that "mere sideline" which so many farmers neglect, supplied about 10 per cent. of the total income of American farms during 1928. The egg sales were estimated at $717,000,000 and the sales of chickens brought in $458,000,000—a total for the poultry industry of $1,175,000,000 as compared with a total farm income for the nation of $11,827,000,000. These figures do not include the value of chickens and eggs consumed on the farms—an item which doubtless would itself run into seven figures.

"Well, I can't blame you, my son, I was in love with her myself when I was your age."—Wahre Jakob, Berlin.

TEE OFF WITH BOW AND ARROW

The arrow beat the golf ball to the cup in a contest staged recently on the Banff Springs Hotel Golf Course, when Yed-Wah Monee (Lone Walker), and Umbiska Wah-Zhee (Lone Eagle), lined up in a foursome against William Thomson, professional of the course, and his daughter Mrs. Peggy Dalgleish, former Alberta Lady Champion, over nine holes. The Indians used bow and arrow while the golfers played with the usual clubs and ball. On the green the Indians shot at a four-inch disc set upright on the cup. Both sides were even at the eighth, and then the Indians won on the ninth. The unique contest excited much interest and enthusiasm among the hotel guests, who formed a large gallery following the play.

CANADA IS VITALLY
CONCERNED IN EMPIRE
ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

The most important economic conference in the history of the British Empire is scheduled to take place in London during October and November.

The exact date of its commencement will be announced as soon as Premier Bennett can indicate with some certainty the time of concluding the special session of the Canadian House.

An important, if not complete, revision of the attitude of the United Kingdom towards tariffs is embodied in the proposals to be laid before the conference and the success or failure in securing acceptance of these proposals lies, by common consent, mainly in the ability of Canada's new prime minister to sell his idea to the people of the Mother Country.

Success, or failure, in the endeavor is of the first importance to Canada and to other sections of the Empire, as well as to Britain. Success means that through the working out of a system of mutually beneficial preferences the British market for wheat and dairy and food products will be retained for Empire products, while overseas dominions will give to British manufacturers their markets for such goods as must be imported.

A century-old aversion in Britain to protective tariffs—particularly foodstuffs—is the barrier which Mr. Bennett must break down to achieve his objective. There are indications that economic conditions are working in his interest; that the feeling is growing that cheap food is dear; that there is no money to buy it.

Canada's offer is the promise to open the Canadian market to British industry—in non-competitive fields—on a basis which will stimulate industrial prosperity there, in return for preferential treatment by Britain for Canada's grain and other agricultural products.

The effort to sell the idea to the Britisher will be followed with the keenest interest by the farming population of the Dominion. Unless it succeeds the Canadian farmer will within a very few years, be subjected to much more pressing competition from the 28-cent-per-day labor of Soviet Russia, where scientific farming methods are now under process of application.

town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter of page ad. in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

To this there is little to add except that, coming from an authority such as the American Bankers' Association, this exhortation is worthy of close attention.

Advertising is the most powerful searchlight known to business. It focuses the attention of a community or a continent on a particular product. It gives that product the advantages of a widespread test by the buying public. But it cannot persuade that public to buy any article it has tested and found wanting. Manufacturers and merchants know this. They know also that advertising an unworthy product does only one thing: it brings magnified attention to its deficiencies. Therefore, before they undertake extensive or consistent advertising, they make sure that their product is right.

Consistent advertising is your best assurance of value and worth. It is fair evidence that the advertising is offering a good product which has been thoroughly tested and approved.

Town Planning In Alberta

Being a Series of Short Articles
Explanatory of the Provisions
Of The Alberta Town Planning
Act, and Regulations
Thereunder.

By
HORACE L. SEYMOUR,
Provincial Director of Town Planning.

Article 2.
The Sub-division of Lands by Registration of Plans.

A sub-division has been, and may be again, the genesis of a city. Every sub-division, as proposed, deserves careful attention.

Regulations of the Department of Public Works, in regard to sub-divisions of land, include the provision: "All land to be sub-divided shall be eminently suited for the purpose it is intended," and "should it appear that the whole, or any part of the land proposed to be sub-divided, is not in the public interest to be sub-divided, or offered for sale to the public," the registration of such sub-division can be refused. With certain exceptions, ten per cent of the total area of a sub-division being registered, is to be set aside for public or park purposes. Residential lots are to be at least fifty feet wide.

For sub-divisions outside of cities, towns, or villages, there must be registered a caveat, which is, in effect, a simple form of zoning by-law, classifying the use of lots for residential, commercial, industrial, or agricultural purposes, until there be formed a village or town which can make its own zoning regulations.

It should be stressed, that by the intelligent co-operation of the owner, the surveyor, and the government officials concerned, many mistakes of the past can be avoided.

Tentative plans of proposed sub-divisions, as prepared by an Alberta surveyor, should be forwarded to the Director of Surveys, Parliament Buildings, Edmonton. All such plans are subject to approval of the Provincial Town Planning Board, and to consideration by a local Town Planning Commission, where appointed.

EXPECT TO FINISH SPECIAL SESSION WITHIN TWO WEEKS

A session of Parliament which will set a new record for brevity is planned by the Bennett government to implement Mr. Bennett's pledge to deal forthwith with the unemployment problem.

The Speech from the Throne is expected to deal only with the business of the session, which is unemployment, and it is the decision of the government that the entire session need not exceed two weeks in length.

Another suggestion was that a regular session be called and the House adjourned until after the New Year as soon as emergency legislation was passed. This has, it is understood, been rejected in favor of the two-week sitting for which members will draw only the statutory allowance of $25 per day.

The legislation to be presented will include provision for co-operation with the provinces and municipalities to forward public works which might otherwise be postponed for a year or two. A considerably expanded program of Federal public works is also indicated.

These courses are aimed at the temporary relief of unemployment. The broader policy advocated by Mr. Bennett in his campaign strives to reach basic conditions through agricultural and industrial encouragement. This hinges upon tariff adjustments of a controversial character and specific action will depend largely upon the course of events at the economic conference in London. Hence tariff adjustments, beyond probable suspension of countervailing duties, will not be taken up by the emergency session of the House.

SATISFACTION

Advance reports do not indicate that the Liberal party will put any impediment in the way of quick disposal of business to enable Mr. Bennett to go to the Empire Conference. In fact Mr. King has indicated his readiness to facilitate matters except where his party might find itself in conflict with the administration on vital principles of government.

A spectacular high line trail ride about 7,000 feet above sea level from Banff to Lake Louise has just been inspected and found feasible by J. Murray Gibbon and Jim Brewster. It is 27 miles west of Banff over timber line to a ridge looking down on the little known glacier-fed Taylor Lake and following the 7,000-foot contour to the Consolation Lake trail leading to Moraine Lake. It commands magnificent views of the glacial country north of the Canadian Pacific Railway west as far as the Bow Lakes and south to Mt. Assiniboine. It is 60 miles long and will probably be used for the annual official camping trip of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies next year.

Soap must be made, says the Soviet, from cats and dogs, too. One cat, boiled down, gives five ounces of fat, one dog more than a pound.

The dead pets and slain pests of the community in general will yield, it is estimated, 5,000 tons of fat for soap.

Abolish Civic Income Tax

City Of Saskatoon To Do Away With Imposition This Year

The city income tax will not be imposed in Saskatoon this year. At the last session of the provincial legislature an amendment to the City Act provided that the levying of the tax would be optional, but any council deciding not to impose the tax would have to indicate its intention early in the year.

Mayor John W. Hair, who has long been opposed to this tax, recently declared that it would never be levied as long as he had any say in the matter. He did not believe that any city had the necessary machinery to collect income tax, and further, he contended that it was far from equitable. The exemptions were not considered fair.

In addition to the mayor most of the members of council are opposed to this form of tax, having repeatedly expressed themselves in favor of its abolition.

Annual revenue from the city income tax in past years has not been large. Total collections usually amounted to about $20,000 per year. Considerable difficulty has also been experienced in collecting the tax.

Strawberry Baths

Fruit Now Being Used For Beauty Culture In Europe

Demand for strawberries is greater in Europe this season than for many years because so much of the fruit is being used for beauty culture. Not only is it being applied in beauty parlors, but strawberry baths are taken in private homes. The idea was taken from the chronicles about Madame Tallien, a noted beauty of her day, who was said to take every morning a bath in which 20 pounds of strawberries were crushed. The bather emerged with a skin freshly perfumed, soft as velvet and tinted with a delicate pink, according to the chronicles.

Fine Paper Made From Rope

Paper of the most delicate kind can be made from old tarred ropes. It is used in the potteries for transferring the various patterns to the earthenware, and is so strong that a sheet twisted by hand will support a weight of one hundred pounds or more.

Western Fisheries

It is not generally known that the Prairie Provinces of Canada—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—contain important commercial fisheries. In 1929 the commercial value of fish caught in these provinces exceeded $4,000,000.

CHAPTER XXVI.

On a morning in August Charmian unlocked the door into what had so recently been John Carter's office, and opened the casement wide. The floor was no longer covered by the soft Bokhara; the windows were bare of hangings; the bookshelves empty. Only the tall brass andirons gleamed a welcome from the blackened hearth; and the girl wiped the dust from Great-grandfather Davis's old chair, and looked appraisingly at her surroundings.

As she did so a brisk step sounded on the sidewalk, and in another moment the doorway was blotted out by George K.'s ample figure.

"What you up to this morning?" he questioned genially. "Saw the door wide open, and thought I'd take a look. Kind of bare, isn't it, since your doctor departed? But it's a pretty place in spite of that."

"Come in," smiled Charmian. "You're the one person in Wickfield I want to see."

"You flatter me," replied George K., and smiled.

"Sit down," she said. "This is the only chair, but I'll perch on the desk if you don't mind. Uncle George, I'm sick with indecision on a lot of subjects; but one thing's clear: I've got to give up the school."

"I've been expecting that," the banker responded. "Only last night Salina was saying that Grandma—well . . ."

He hesitated; but Charmian asked bravely: "Then others have seen it, too?"

George K. nodded, and the girl went on: "She's failed this summer—not in her mind, thank heaven! but she's not so brisk and happy as she was a year ago. I've got to be with her more. It was hard last winter, even with John Carter to help out. I'll never, never forget how good he was to her, running in between patients to see if she needed anything—getting her lunch—jollyng her along and keeping her happy and contented. I'll be grateful to him as long as I live; but things have changed. She needs me now, and I can't be away all day. But—but I'm afraid, Uncle George, that we'll have to sell the house."

"And live here?" he questioned. Charmian nodded because it was hard to speak; but after a moment she continued: "It was Doctor Howe's idea. He must have realized that the time would come when I couldn't make both ends meet. Oh, if I could only have kept the house as long as Grandma lived! I dread to tell her."

George K. arose, suddenly. He went to the window, his back to Charmian, and blew a loud blast upon his nose. When he turned he said with a good attempt at cheer: "You needn't dread it, Charmian. Grandma's a brave woman; she won't flinch. Look here, child, if I gave you an allowance just as if you were my daughter, and—"

"Oh, Uncle George!" cried Charmian. "How can I be downhearted when I've got friends like you? Of course you can't give me an allowance; but perhaps you can help me sell the house. That must be done before I can go ahead and make this livable. The only trouble is—will anybody want it?"

"Don't worry about that, my dear. I had an offer for it several months ago. I didn't say anything about it because I thought just then that a certain M.D. of our acquaintance might make his home here permanently. But if the place is on the market you won't have to hunt a purchaser."

Charmian, who had flushed during this frank speech, asked breathlessly: "Who wants it? Will they pay anything like what the old place is really worth?"

The banker nodded.

"You won't be cheated while I do the bargaining, my child. You ought to get enough, reserving this building and a small strip of land, so you can live on the interest—in Wickfield. I'll see that you do. Once you make the change, Charmian, I think you'll find life surprisingly easier; and after all, you'll still be occupying a corner of your ancestral acres, if that's any comfort."

Charmian was looking through the open casement toward the homestead that was her greatest pride. She said, at last: "It ought to be, of course; but it'll be hard to see strangers come in and out of the old house. Who wants it, Uncle George?"

George K. hesitated a moment before he answered: "I'm not at liberty to say at present; though I don't see why. It's some one who's driven through Wickfield frequently, and taken a fancy to the place. He's a young man, who, I believe, is going to be married; but he said there'd be no hurry about your getting out. In fact, he'd like you to stay on for a while, as caretaker, and superintend the necessary repairs. I suppose when it comes to any real remodeling he'll get the verdict of the lady in the case. That's all I know."

"Then you really mean that the house is as good as sold?"

"I'm sure of it. I'll drop him a line today and ask when the papers can be signed. As for this little place, Charmian, with a few alterations it can be made delightful; and Grandma will be happy knowing your work is lighter. It's without doubt the sensible thing to do."

"I'm afraid," said Charmian as he arose, "that I don't like being sensible, Uncle George. Do you think these people are the sort who'll spoil the house with the wrong sort of improvements, the way so many old houses have been spoiled?"

"I'm sure they're not," was the emphatic answer. "It's quaintness was what attracted the young man. Don't lose sleep over that. Now I must run in and speak to Grandma, Charmian—" George K. turned as he reached the door. "What's the matter with John Carter? Salina says the life has gone out of his step in the last month. Have you broken his heart?"

Charmian smiled.

"I have an uncomfortable feeling that the consensus of opinion in Wickfield is that he has broken mine!"

"He hasn't—has he?"

George K. looked so genuinely solicitous that the girl said quickly: "What nonsense!—though if he had I wouldn't admit it for a kingdom. As Grandma frequently remarks, 'we Davises have our pride.' The only thing that's breaking my heart, Uncle George, is the thought that I haven't been clever enough to keep the Davis homestead in the family. As for John Carter, if the life has gone out of his step, I'm truly sorry. He dropped in yesterday when I was at the library, and Grandma said he looked abominably tired. I'll run into his office this afternoon with an imaginary ache, and see what I can do about it. I'd brave even the Wickfield gossips to help as a good friend as he has been to us."

"Well, so long," smiled the banker. "I'll let you know what I hear from your purchaser, my dear."

Charmian stood at the window watching him cross the driveway and disappear under the golden pineapple. "I believe," she mused, "that the whole thing will be easier now it's settled. This will make a darling living room. Grandma will get a better view of the street from this window than from the old one. I can sleep on a couch in here, and Grandma can have the other room. Of course it's the only thing to do! Why, hello! where did you come from?"

This question was addressed to John Carter, who stood, as George K. had an hour earlier, in the doorway. At Charmian's greeting he came forward, tossed his hat onto the desk, and answered: "I couldn't resist the lure of that open door. I never pass here, Charmian, without a homesick twinge. Never again shall I have an office that so exactly suits me; and I miss you and Grandma more than you'd guess. You see, there's not enough sickness this time of year to keep me from thinking of things that had better be forgotten. Well, let's forget 'em!" he said more cheerfully. "What brought you here this morning, may I ask?"

Charmian told him, adding that the old doctor had made the plan for her; and that George K. had a purchaser for the house.

"So you see," she ended, "everything's done—except telling Grandma. I admit that I can't quite face the thought of that ordeal."

The young man looked very serious as he replied: "Let me tell her, Charmian. I'm hardened to breaking unpleasant truths to people. Besides, unless I'm mistaken, Grandma is fond of me. I can break the news as painlessly as you can."

He was seated on Great-grandfather Davis's old desk, and the girl looked up at him from the chair, her blue eyes misting.

"John Carter, I ought to be ashamed! I don't believe a girl ever had such friends before. Here's Uncle George wanting to give me an allowance so I needn't sell the place; and you—Well, I hope some day I can repay you for all you've done for us and been to us this year. But I guess I'll have to tell Grandma myself. It seems, somehow, as if I ought to; but if my courage deserts me at the last moment I'll make an ignominious retreat and send for you. Now that's enough of my troubles for one day. Let's hear yours for a change."

Late that afternoon when Charmian returned from a call at the Merrys', she found Grandma, bright-eyed, at the window.

"I've been been gallivanting," she explained as the girl kissed her. "Just after you started, along came the doctor and made me go for a ride. We've been clear to Eastboro, and I don't feel one mite tired. I will say that his car's a sight more comfortable than Edward Howe's was."

"I'm glad you've had such a good time," smiled Charmian. "Mrs. Merry has a new picture of the baby; and Madge wrote that she'd send me another view. He's terribly cunning—looks for all the world like a miniature George. What do you want for supper, Grandma? It's almost time."

Rub It In For Lame Back.—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

Little Helps For This Week

"Lead us not into temptation." — Matthew vi. 13.

Ah! He who prayed the prayer of all mankind Summed in those few, brief, words the mightiest plea. For erring souls before the courts of heaven— Save us from being tempted—lest we fall.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The petition of "Lead us not into temptation" is the prayer of Christian humility, conscious of its own weakness. If this prayer is truly offered, it may supersede the necessity of temptation. If we are already conscious of our weakness, we may not need the trial which is sent to show us our weakness.

—James Freeman Clarke.

We are very pleased to say she hasn't any broken bones, and is recovering nicely.

Mr. Dowser, Archibald, and Everett, motored from Rosedale, B.C., and spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Swingle. The boys say Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Swingle are much pleased with B.C. RUGBY NOTES

The September meeting of Rugby W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. C. Youngs, with an attendance of thirteen members and three visitors. After the business was disposed of, Mrs. Jackson took charge of the program on "House Economics," and a most enjoyable afternoon followed. As the day was so fine, we were able to hold our meeting on the lawn, and when the time came to close, everyone seemed inclined to linger over the teasups. When the last car drove off, it was choretime. The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carleon.

HENS THAT PAY

The ten-year average of the cost of feeding laying hens at the Lennoxville Experimental Station of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is $2.43 per hen. This means that with eggs selling at an average of 35 cents per dozen it takes 6.95 dozen, or 81 eggs, to pay for the keep of the laying hen—only the eggs laid in excess of that number can count as profit. This demonstrates the importance of carefully culling poultry flocks before the laying season begins. It is the hens that lay from 150 to 200 eggs a year that pay.

Visitors admiring Sultan Oxford, herd sire at Norman Clarke's farm. He is the winner of five grand championships.

Mr. Norman Clarke Visits Waikiki Farms

Norman Clarke, who is now known as Alberta's leading breeder of American-type pure-bred Jersey cows, recently accompanied his son on a business trip across the line to Washington. He returned on Tuesday night, after attending the livestock exhibition in Spokane.

Mr. Clarke is now well-known throughout Alberta, as the leading breeder of American-type pure-bred Jersey cattle. He has on his farm, at the present time, the largest and finest herd of these economical producers to be found anywhere in western Canada. His foundation-stock were obtained from the Waikiki dairy, which is west of Spokane.

While in Washington, Mr. Clarke looked over many fine pure-bred Jerseys. He noticed, that over there, where land costs more, Jersey cattle are the most popular, as they make the most butterfat out of the same amount of feed, and in addition to that, chores are much easier done with Jersey cattle.

He also made a study of the different types of dairy barns used, as he has under construction at the present time, a fine barn to house his heavy-producing cows, with which he intends to make some outstanding R.O.P. records. When completed, the new barn will be one of the most up-to-date and completely equipped dairy barns in the province.

As he keeps several fine dairy bulls on hand most of the time, including Sultan's Oxford, whose stock is in demand everywhere, Mr. Clarke investigated different kinds of bull pens. Sultan's Oxford has been housed in the most modern manner on the farm, and has his pen equipped with an exerciser. Mr. Clarke finds that the latest equipment to be added to a bull's quarters is an especially-designed breeding pen. He intends to construct modern bull pens with every latest arrangement for the economical, healthful and safe handling of his valuable bulls.

It may be of interest to Didsbury farmers to hear that more pure-bred Jersey cows have been imported to Alberta during the present year, than all other breeds of cattle combined. By far, the greater part of these animals were unloaded at Didsbury. From here, they are distributed to all parts of Alberta. A shipment went forward to northern points last week-end, and this week, a 50 ft. car of young heifers is expected to arrive from Spokane. Mr. Clarke says this is the finest lot of young heifers he has ever seen.

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner, we desire to express our thanks to our friends for their sympathy expressed in so many acts of kindness, lovely flowers and loan of cars, during our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sinclair and family.

At the fourth World's Poultry Congress to be held at the Crystal Palace, London, July 22-30, Canada will have a total of 863 birds in competitive entries, also 453 exhibition birds and 244 production birds. Exhibits of ducks, geese, pigeons, and rabbits will also be there from the Dominion. Birds from the ranch of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at Pekisko, near High River, Alta., will be among the many interesting exhibits.
